1. After the Chinese Communist capture of Kengma (99-25, 23-33), most anti-Communist guerrilla troops, including a battalion under a Kengma tribal leader and part of a unit under LI Chia-sheng (李家聲) which had taken refuge in the Chiakan (卡甘) Mountain district, retreated to Mengting (99-05, 23-33).
2. A newly organized guerrilla force of four regiments under LI Wen-huan (李文煥), CHANG Hung-i (張鴻義), and HUANG Wen-lung (黃文龍) is harassing Communist troops in the Chenkang (99-25, 24-07) Mountain area. A regiment under HSIUNG Chi-p'ei (熊紀佩) was transferred to Chenkang from Paoshan (99-09, 25-07) in late January. Guerrillas are planning to occupy Chenkang and recover Kengma as a base for operations, estimating that two months will be required to take Paoshan.*
3. Communist troops of these areas are moving toward Lungling (98-42, 24-34). A Communist regiment is to be withdrawn from Paoshan. Only a small number of Communist regulars and an undetermined number of people's militia are at key points in western Yunnan, but are not very active.
4. Approximately 300 guerrillas under the command of WEN Shih-ch'ing (溫世卿) and deputy YANG Ch'eng-chih (楊成之) are hiding in mountains of the Mengting area with the assistance of local authorities. The guerrillas are awaiting the arrival of new supplies. They believe that when the supply and reinforcement problems are solved, they can win over the Chinese Communist troops in the area, whose morale is reported to be deteriorating.
